

REIGN OF PEACE IN SAN DOMINGO

Formidable Revolutionary Tendencies To Disappear With Inauguration Of President Caceres.

PULLIAM TELLS WAR DEPARTMENT

In Official Report Of Progress Under American Receivership Of Customs Affairs, That Outlook Is Very Bright.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—Important information concerning the political and financial conditions in the Dominican Republic is contained in a letter, under date of June 25th, which has been received by General Clarence B. Edwards, chief of the Bureau of Insular Affairs, of the War Department, from W. B. Pulliam, United States Receiver of Customs of Santo Domingo.

The letter is expressed in the letter that, with the inauguration of President Caceres, the Dominican Republic will enter upon a new era and that the last vestige of formidable revolutionary tendencies in the republic will have been effectually discouraged.

An immense improvement is shown in the financial condition of the republic. The income for the present fiscal year, which began on the 1st of July, is estimated at $3,948,000, the largest in the history of the republic. Receiver Pulliam says that "after deducting $1,500,000 to be paid in monthly installments of $100,000 for interest on the new Dominican bond issue, the remainder available for government expenditures will exceed the entire federal income of but four years ago."

Discussing political conditions in the republic, Receiver Pulliam says: "General Ramon Caceres, who is just completing the unexpired term of the presidency to which he succeeded in January, 1904, after the constitutional withdrawal and subsequent deposition of President Morales, has been elected for the new constitutional term of six years and will be formally inaugurated July 1st. President Caceres is a man of the people. He comes from the most prosperous agricultural district of the Republic, and is well liked and apparently enjoys the respect of all classes. He is a person of commanding presence, a remarkable specimen of physical manhood, affable in demeanor, and the possessor of a disposition that attracts. Now that the government's financial affairs have been adjusted and placed upon a stable, let-to-be basis, his election underwrites safe sailing for the ship of state, and is a guarantee against internal disorders which have heretofore found frequent lodgment in Dominican history. For his experience and training have been military, and the people understand that he is a man capable of taking the field, if necessary, as he has in the past, to uphold the law and defend the best interests of his country. With President Caceres' inauguration an accomplished fact, it is believed by the best informed that the last vestige of formidable revolutionary tendencies in the Republic will be effectually discouraged.

"The Dominican Republic starts upon a new governmental era with the inauguration of President Caceres. By provisions of the new constitution, adopted in February, the term of the President was extended from four to six years. This fact alone will operate to remove even remote excuses for disturbances, formerly always contemporaneous with presidential elections. The legislative branch of the government has been reorganized to embrace two deliberative bodies, a Senate consisting of twelve members, one for each district, and the House of Deputies, or Congressmen, each district electing two. Therefore there was no Senate."

In his financial statement, Receiver Pulliam shows a condition for more satisfactory than had been expected. A statement which reflects distinct credit upon the American Receiver-ship.

38 YEARS BEHIND THE PRISON WALLS

William E. Hill Entered upon Thirty-ninth Year in Prison
Today.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Boston, Mass., Aug. 3.—Yesterday the only man in the world without a friend outside of prison walls is William E. Hill, a civil war veteran, who today entered upon his thirty-ninth year as an inmate of the state prison in Charlestown. Hill is serving a life sentence for the murder of William J. Sullivan, near Stoughton Centre, in 1870. His friends deserted him from the first, and his wife, who died in the commission of the crime and then turned state's evidence at the trial, long since disappeared. Hill was first sentenced to be hanged, but this sentence was later commuted to life imprisonment by Governor Clifford. He entered prison August 2, 1870. Since then he has been outside the prison walls only twice—once when the prison was transferred to Concord, and again, a few years later, when it was transferred back to Charlestown. Although he has spent the best years of his life behind the bars and is now an old man, he has never lost hope of some day being pardoned.

BUSH FIRES IN WESTERN CANADA CLAIM A TOLL OF 150 HUMAN LIVES

Property Loss At Fernie, Located On Crow's Nest Branch Of Canadian Pacific, Is $5,000,000, And 6,000 Are Homeless.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 3.—According to the latest estimates the number of those who have perished in the bush fire which has been raging in the Elk river district of British Columbia, will total 150. Twenty men employed in the camps of the Elk River Co. have lost their lives.

Rich Coal and Lumber Region.
The Kootenay district, which is the scene of the conflagration, is in the extreme southern corner of the province, just north of the Montana state line, and is the richest coal and lumber territory in British Columbia.

6,000 Homeless at Fernie.
At the town of Fernie, which was practically wiped out, the property loss is $5,000,000 and six thousand people are homeless and destitute. There is no abatement of the flames in the vicinity of Hosmer and Sparwood, neighboring stations on the Canadian Pacific, but the little city of Michel, with a population of about 1,100, is safe, the wind dying out in that locality at midnight.

Summer Visitors Lost Lives?
Chicago, Ill., Aug. 3.—E. W. Steers of Caron, British Columbia, who is extensively interested at Fernie, is in the city today. He declares that he has received information to the effect that 30 lumbermen of Fernie lost their lives. He fears that the families of Peter J. Seppel of Dubuque, Ia., and H. D. Campbell of Stillwater, Minn., who were at Fernie for the summer, also perished in the fire.

Flames Driven by High Wind.
For the past month forest fires have been raging in the mountains of the Elk river valley country, but they had not been considered serious. Saturday morning a heavy wind sprang up from the west and early in the afternoon the flames appeared over the crest of the mountains to the west of Fernie. They ran down the mountain side and before a fire guard could be organized, had entered the town. Within an hour the town was doomed and the inhabitants sought safety in flight, leaving their all behind them. Three thousand people are camped in the open their only protection being shelters built of brush or blankets.

The hills in all directions are a seething mass of flames, cutting off every avenue of escape. The fire spread with great rapidity and it is feared that several parties who tried to get through the pass have been cut off. Families have been separated and there is at present no means of checking up the fatalities.

Fernie Wiped Out.
In Fernie the only buildings remaining are six small shacks on the banks of the Elk river, the offices of the Crow's Nest Coal company and the Elkes Wood warehouse. One hundred cars of coal, the property of the Great Northern, are gone and the stock piles of coal and coke, holding about 500,000 tons, are in flames. It is now feared that the fire may get in the mines themselves, several of which are open. This will mean incalculable damage as the whole of the valley is underlain with coal.

At present the fire is following the crest of the mountain chain above Sparwood, eating down into the valleys on either side. It is traveling at a tremendous rate and unless there is a change of wind will cross the boundary into Montana within a few hours. There are thousands of mines and prospectors' claims in the track of the fire, all of which are in peril.

Twenty-Fifth Biennial Convention of Knights Of Pythias Opens In Boston.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Boston, Mass., Aug. 3.—The week of the twenty-fifth biennial convention and encampment of the supreme lodge of the Knights of Pythias began in this city today with an attendance that gives promise of surpassing any previous similar event in the history of the order. The headquarters of the convention were opened today at the Hotel Somerset, where all business sessions are to be held.

Elaborate arrangements have been made by the citizens of Boston for the entertainment of the Pythians. Thousands of dollars have been raised by popular subscription. The camp of the uniform rank was opened today at Franklin Field, and here Major General Arthur J. Stobart of St. Paul will review the troops. The camp was formally dedicated this afternoon with a flag-raising ceremony followed by brief addresses by Governor Child, Mayor Hibbard, Supreme Chancellor Charles A. Barnes of Jacksonville, Ill., and Major General Stobart, commanding the uniform rank.

Two huge parades, a feature unprecedented in similar gatherings of other fraternal orders, which have had but a single parade, will add interest to the events of the week. The parade of the uniform rank will take place tomorrow afternoon, and it is estimated there will be 15,000 Knights and fifty bands of music in line. On Wednesday the subordinate lodges, with 18,000 in line, will parade, under command of Chief Marshal Lieut. George E. Wragg. The governor and other dignitaries will review the parade from a stand erected on Boston Common. The thoroughfares through which the parades will pass, including Beacon, Boylston, Summer and Tremont streets, are tastefully decorated for the occasion.

Nearly fifty companies, representing a score of states, are entered in the competitive drills, for which cash prizes aggregating $10,000 are hung up. The drills will take place at Franklin Field Thursday and Friday.

Charles A. Barnes of Illinois will preside over the conference of the supreme lodge. He will be succeeded in the chair of supreme chancellor by Henry P. Brown of Cleburne, Texas, the present supreme vice-chancellor. It being the custom to make the vice-chancellor the next chancellor, The real contest of the convention will center about the election of the next supreme vice-chancellor. Several states have candidates for the office. Massachusetts is pushing vigorously the candidacy of Dr. Dwight Sidney Woodworth of Fitchburg. Major General Stobart of Minnesota probably will be re-elected commander of the uniform rank.

Among the visitors to the city are thousands of members of the Pythian Sisters, the women's auxiliary of the order, in whose honor many special features of entertainment have been arranged. Two grand balls, several receptions, a banquet and excursions to Noshbury and other points of interest are included in the program prepared for the next ten days.

FINE COLOR POSTERS FOR PARKER PEN CO.

20,500 Reproductions of Saturday
Post Advertisement in Red and Black, just issued from Gazette Press.

The printing department of the Gazette has just completed a run of 20,500 colored red and black posters for the Parker Pen company, reproductions of a two page advertisement for Parker pens inserted in the Saturday Evening Post at an expense to the advertiser of $1,200.

The poster is done on heavy enamel stock illustrated with fine half tones and accompanied by a very strong talk for Parker pens and is one of the most attractive pieces of printed matter that has come out of the city for some time.

Earlier in the month a edition of 20,500 eight page, two color "Slide Talks" was produced for the Parker Pen company with special cuts and prepared reading matter and also a run of 25,000 two color pen cleaners.

The activity of this company in going out after business this fall will let a great number of people know that Janesville is on the map and demonstrates that there are a good many live industries in this city.

GREEN COUNTY'S INSTITUTE FOR TEACHERS A SUCCESS

Supt. H. C. Buell Was One of the Conductors and Supt. C. H. Mem-ingway Delivered Address.
Green County's Teachers' Institute which has just been concluded was highly successful from every point of view. The attendance was large, the spirit of the work excellent, and Supt.
Buell of Monroe was highly gratified.
Supt. H. C. Buell of Janesville and Supt. H. W. Conover of Beloit were two of the conductors and Supt.
Charles H. Hemingway delivered a very interesting address recommending a higher standard for the schools,
a truer spirit of work in the teacher,
and so forth. His remarks were illustrated from time to time with brilliant flashes of wit and he held the close attention of the entire assemblage from beginning to end.

HON. NEWTON W. GILBERT

The Hon. Newton W. Gilbert, who has just been named as a member of the Philippine commission at the instance of former secretary of state William H. Taft, is a product of northwestern Indiana and owes his rapid rise in public life to his election as congressman from the Twelfth district of his home state in 1904. For it was on his first trip to Washington that he met the genial secretary who took an immediate fancy to the newly elected congressman. In 1905, when the trip to the Philippines was planned, Congressman Gilbert was invited to join the party. On that trip he and the secretary formed a friendship that has never since been broken and Mr.
Taft has been the means of his last two assignments in public life.

Soon after his return from the Philippines, Congressman Gilbert was offered a seat in the court of first instance at Manila and after discussing it with his home city political friends, he accepted. It was realized at this time that this promotion was merely a stepping stone to a higher office and it is the belief now that the present appointment is of a definite nature.
His friends in northern Indiana believe that at some future date, Commissioner Newton W. Gilbert will be Governor-General of the Philippine Islands. While making his trip to the islands to take up the duties of his first office, Mr. Gilbert was quietly married at San Francisco. At the same time he resigned his position in congress.

Judge Gilbert's rise in public life has been very rapid. Born in Angola, in the extreme northwestern corner of Indiana, he became prominent in politics soon after he attained the age of majority. His first political office was that of surveyor of his county, Steuben, and since that time he has been a state senator, House member, governor, member of congress, judge of the court of first instance and now a member of the Philippine commission.

Directors' Cup by Kropf of Madison.

Former State Golf Champion Frank
Jacobs of Madison was defeated on Saturday by Fred Pettit of Kenosha, giving Pettit the title for the ensuing year.

H. S. McGiffin played with H. P.
Kropf of Madison in the finals for the Directors' Cup and was beaten seven ways and six to play. Mr. McGiffin however received the runner up cup in that event. Mr. Kropf has played over the local course several times coming down with the Madison team.

With the exception of Champion Frank Jacobs, Kropf is probably the strongest man in the Madison club.

Several of the "Silver Grays" of the local club had planned to enter the fifty year age limit handicap, but all were unable to do so. This event was won by H. O. Fairchild of Green Bay who scored far below any of the numerous competitors. Twenty cards were turned in for this event which was thirty-six holes—eighteen on Friday and eighteen on Saturday.

Mr. Fairchild was in Janesville in the summer of 1906 and played in the state tournament held here at the time. He is no doubt remembered by a number of local golfers.

TAFT WILLING TO BE CALLED "BILL"

TELLS HOW HE GOT NICKNAME
AT YALE UNIVERSITY.

M'CLEARY SEES NOMINEE

Gives Good Account of Minnesota and Wisconsin—Chief of Republican Literary Bureau Is Appointed.

Hot Springs, Va., Aug. 3.—"Just call me Mr. Taft and if you drop into colloquialism, call me Bill." This was Judge Taft's laughing reply Sunday when granting audience to a number of newspaper men, who had addressed him as "Mr. Secretary," "Governor," "Judge," and "Mr. Taft."

"I first got the name Bill at Yale," continued Mr. Taft, replying to a question. "Before I went there I had been 'Willie' in my home and among my Cincinnati boyhood friends. But when I got through school I was called Will at home. My younger brother, Harry, however, never called me Will. He after a happening one day at college. We roomed together on the top floor of Farnham hall, our room was just over the middle entrance. Harry was a freshman, I a junior. He had gone out and forgotten to take with him a book he wanted. He came back to the entrance and looking up on the outside, yelled 'O, Willie.' Well, in a second there was a head out of every one of the 400 windows, and it seemed as though everyone yelled at once. At any rate there was one lone chorus of 'O Willie.' That cured Harry. He has called me 'Bill' ever since."

McCleary Calls on Taft.
James T. McCleary, second assistant postmaster general and candidate for congress, who has just returned from a review of the situation in Minnesota and Wisconsin, spent Sunday here. Mr. McCleary assured Mr. Taft that in his opinion the Republican situation in Minnesota is in excellent shape. It is his belief that Gov. Johnson will not be a candidate for re-election.

In Wisconsin Mr. McCleary says he can see the good effect of the speech of acceptance already. The handling by Judge Taft of the railroad question, he says, has pleased the La Follette wing of the party in that state.

Oulahan Directs Literary Work.
New York, Aug. 3.—Richard V. Oulahan, for many years the Washington correspondent of the New York Sun, will have general charge of all the literary work for the Republican national committee. This appointment was announced Sunday by Frank H. Hitchcock, the national chairman. Mr. Oulahan began his duties Monday. Under the arrangements made for the consolidation of the press bureaus of the national committee and the congressional committee, the preparation and distribution of all of the Republican literary work will be directed by Mr. Oulahan, who will be assisted by Francis Curtis of Springfield, Mass., whose selection as editor was announced two weeks ago.

The appointment of Mr. Oulahan is pleasing to Mr. Hitchcock and Representative McKelvey of Illinois, chairman of the congressional committee. He is a native of the District of Columbia. He was an intimate friend of President Harrison and has held the confidence of all subsequent administrations.

Democrats Like Donaparte's Ruling.
Fairview, Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 3.—Attorney General Donaparte's opinion holding it to be illegal for national banks of Oklahoma to contribute toward the guaranty fund for the protection of depositors or to avail themselves of the other privileges of the state banking act, was the subject of a good deal of discussion here Sunday. Prominent Democrats of Lincoln freely avowed that, following so closely on the heels of the Standard Oil reversal in Chicago and the contempt cases against the labor leaders in Washington, the opinion of the attorney general still further strengthens the Democratic party in the present campaign. Mr. Bryan said only: "It accentuates the issue and emphasizes the necessity of legislation framed from the standpoint of the depositor rather than from the standpoint of the banker."

Not Guilty of Land Frauds.
Portland, Ore., Aug. 3.—Ex-State Senator R. A. Booth of Eugene and his brother, James H. Booth, executor of the land office at Roseburg, and Thomas E. Singleton, who have been on trial for several days in the United States district court on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the government of 160 acres of public land in Douglas county, were acquitted by the jury Sunday.

Train Hits Auto; One Killed.
New York, Aug. 3.—One man was instantly killed and five seriously injured, two of whom are likely to die, when an automobile was struck by a train on the Susquehanna railroad at a crossing in Bogota, N. J., late Sunday night. Donald Holmes, 25 years old, a lawyer of Paterson, N. J., was killed.

Shoots Husband Who Beats Her.
Cantonville, Pa., Aug. 3.—While whipping his wife during a domestic quarrel Sunday Frank Palmer was shot through the abdomen by Mrs. Palmer. He was taken to a hospital probably fatally injured, while the woman is at her home unconscious from her injuries.

New Hampshire Encounters Storms on Way Home from Quebec.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 3.—The battleship New Hampshire returned here Sunday from the twenty-day voyage to Quebec. The battleship had a rough passage from Quebec, which was left Wednesday morning. Fog enveloped her from the time she started until the Nantucket shoals were reached. Capt. Winslow was on the bridge all the way and had but two hours' sleep during the trip of 1,200 miles.

When the shoals lightship was reached the battleship struck a severe storm. The rain came down in torrents and a gale set in which drove away the fog but kicked up a heavy sea. The ship's wireless apparatus was blown away, but otherwise she stood the storm well.

Rear Admiral Cowles, who represented the navy at the celebration, will leave the New Hampshire Monday or early Tuesday and return to Washington. The battleship will proceed to Portsmouth Wednesday to receive the silver service to be presented by the state of New Hampshire.

Rates for G. A. R. Encampment.

Toledo, O., Aug. 3.—A rate of one fare plus a half fare for the round trip will be the general rate made by the railway from practically all parts of the country to the next annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, to be held here the week beginning August 31. Extensions to September 15 for the return will be made upon the payment of one dollar.

Fatal Explosion in Pekin.

Pekin, Aug. 3.—Fire in the German Guard section of the legation quarter of the city at 10:30 o'clock Sunday night burned the stables and museum and exploded a quantity of ammunition. Two German and one French soldiers were killed. Eight German and five French soldiers were severely hurt and four soldiers and civilians slightly wounded.

Slays to Avenge Daughter.

Cherryvale, Kan., Aug. 3.—Henry Dunbar, a farmer, shot and killed Tobo Sawyer at the latter's home, five miles south of Cherryvale, Sunday. Dunbar was arrested. He will plead "unwritten law," claiming that Sawyer wronged his 17-year-old daughter.

Knabenshue After World's Record.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 3.—Iloy Knabenshue, the aeronaut of Toledo, O., will attempt to lower the world's record for a dirigible airship on September 12, when he will start from Denver for Omaha, a distance of 638 miles. The world's record now is 100 miles.

PARIS READY FOR ONE DAY STRIKE

POLICE AND SOLDIERS WILL SUP-PRESS VIOLENCE.

PUBLIC VERY INDIGNANT

Newspapers First to Be Affected by the Walk-Out — Government Violently Denounced
in Placards.

Paris, Aug. 3.—The 24-hour general strike with which the city is threatened is the sole topic of conversation in Paris. While there are no signs of panic, such as preceded the May day manifestations of 1904, considerable anxiety and indignation prevail in the public mind.

The press, almost without exception, reprehends the intolerable behavior of the revolutionary section of the general labor federation and urges on the government the suppression of it as the only means of removing what it declares is a growing menace to society.

Troops Ready to Act.

The authorities are confident they have the situation well in hand. In addition to the large police force of Paris, the regular garrison numbers 25,000 men, and this force, it is held, is ample to assure order. The troops all have been confined to barracks so as to be available at a moment's notice.

The labor camp is convinced that it is about to treat the nation to a demonstration of its power such as seldom before has been seen. It is stated that the general labor federation has received the adhesion of unions affiliated with it affecting, it is estimated, 100,000 workers, including the carmen, commercial travelers, silversmiths, electricians, printers, day laborers, butchers, bakers, hotel employees, etc. Very few of the unions refused to issue a strike order in compliance with the federation's instructions.

Violent Placards Posted.

Early Sunday bill stickers began to placard walls with a most violent proclamation which explained that the strike is in protest against the action of the government in "preparing an ambush and turning loose the soldiery who, by charging and sabering, had stung the manifestants into replying, thus giving the troops an excuse to massacre. The authorities do not dare to announce the real number of workers assembled at Vincennes. This crime cannot pass unnoticed, and the only reply possible is a 24-hour strike."

The police arrested the bill stickers and the manifesto then was distributed in the form of hand bills.

The first sign Sunday evening of the strike was when a number of printers did not put in an appearance at the newspaper offices, and many of the journals were unable to print.

Farman Makes Public Flight.

New York, Aug. 3.—Henri Farman, who came from Paris to give a series of aeroplane exhibitions under the management of an American syndicate, made his first public flight in this country at the Brighton Beach racetrack Sunday evening. Farman traveled from the eastern corner of the racetrack enclosure to the opposite corner at the lower turn, a distance of nearly a third of a mile, in about 30 seconds.

Wreck on Southern Railway.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 3.—Train No. 38 on the Southern railway, the New Orleans-New York limited, northbound, which left here at noon Sunday met with an accident some 20 miles from Charlotte, N. C., Sunday night. The tender, mail car and club car left the rails, and three mail clerks were injured. No passenger was hurt, and no one was killed.

Explosion Kills Three Workmen.

Pontiac, Mich., Aug. 3.—Three workmen are dead and a fourth was severely burned Sunday as the result of an explosion of coal gas and dust in a coal conveyor at the plant of the Acme Portland Cement company here.

SOLDIERS ON LONG "HIKE."

Ten Thousand Marching to Fort Riley for Maneuvers.

Topoka, Kan., Aug. 3.—Most of the 10,000 troops which will participate in the annual maneuvers at Fort Riley from August 10 to September 10 are now on the march. One regiment of cavalry and one regiment of artillery are already at the fort. These maneuvers are considered the most important held in the United States this year.

The heat is telling upon the soldiers, making it impossible for them to cover long distances. The Thirtieth regiment, United States infantry, arrived here Saturday after marching for four days from Fort Leavenworth. The regiment spent Sunday in camp here, getting rested as much as possible. The "hike" was resumed Monday morning. A corps of engineers is one day ahead of this regiment and is carrying with it the apparatus used in erecting and operating a monster searchlight, which will be used in the maneuvers to locate troops and search the field by night. The light will enable the troops to see ten miles and detect the "enemy."

The regiment consists of about 1,500 men and is under the command of Col. Longhorough. It is divided into three battalions. While at Fort Riley the engineer corps will throw a pontoon bridge across the Kaw river under as nearly as possible the same circumstances as would exist in actual warfare.

We Have Planted Tomatoes On 1,200 More Acres

This year we've added 1,200 acres to our tomato patch. Just to raise the tomatoes for making the sauce that goes on Van Camp's Beans.

The demand for Van Camp's Beans is growing by leaps and bounds. It is now larger, by several times over, than for any other brand in the world.

Yet it is only beginning. There are millions of housewives still baking their own beans. They will all let us bake for them when they know Van Camp's.

And thousands are still buying other brands—simply because they don't know. Some time they will get a can of Van Camp's. Then they'll be our customers, too.

So we have planted 1,200 more acres to tomatoes, to supply your demands next year.

We have told you about our tomato sauce.

We make it solely from whole, ripe tomatoes, grown close to our kitchens, and ripened on the vines.

We pick these tomatoes just at the crest of their ripeness—when the juice fairly sparkles. That's how we get that superlative zest in the sauce that's baked into our beans.

Some sauce is made from tomatoes picked green and ripened in shipment. Some is made of scraps from a canning factory. Such sauce is not rich; it lacks flavor.

But such sauce costs only one-fifth what we spend to make ours. That's why it is often used. And that is one reason why other beans cannot compare with Van Camp's.

Another reason lies in the beans themselves.

We buy only the choicest Michigan beans, grown on a soil rich in nitrogen. They are picked over by hand, so we get only the whitest, the plumpest, the fullest-grown.

We often pay for such beans seven or eight times what other beans can be bought for. But you can see the result if you compare other beans with Van Camp's.

Our beans are baked in live steam, heated to 245 degrees. We bake in small parcels, so that the full heat goes through.

The result is, the particles are separated, by the fierce heat, so that the digestive juices can get to them.

That is not so with home-baked beans. Not half so much heat gets to the center of your baking dish. The result is, your beans don't digest. They ferment and form gas.

Then we bake the beans, the tomato sauce and the pork all together and get a delicious blend.

In these ways we prepare, after 47 years of experience, the finest beans ever baked. The millions of people who know these beans never will use any other.

VanCamp's BAKED WITH TOMATO SAUCE PORK AND BEANS

Have you begun to use Van Camp's? If not, ask your neighbor about them. Learn—for your own sake—what you are missing. Millions are now enjoying this delicious, economical, ready-cooked dish.

We don't need to argue about other brands of beans. If somebody claims that his beans equal ours, simply try them and see. We are willing to abide by your judgment.

But we do wish to argue about home-baked beans. Beans to be good for you must be digestible. And, to be digestible, they must be factory cooked.

You don't want to eat beans that ferment and form gas—that don't digest, don't nourish.

You don't want some beans crisped, and others less than half baked. You want them all baked alike.

You don't want them mushy and broken. You do want them nutty, mealy and whole.

You can't bake beans as they should be baked. You lack the facilities—lack sufficient heat.

And think of the trouble you save by having them ready-baked. Each can in the house means a meal all cooked. A meal that is more nutritious than meat—more appetizing than anything else that you know.

Sit out in the breeze these hot afternoons and let us cook the supper for you.

JENNIE L. KENDALL,
(Seal) Notary Public.

My commission expires Feb. 11, 1911.

PLEASE WAKE UP, ALDERMEN!

Modern battles are not fought with blunderbusses. Even if they were, the wheezy old junk-wagon which good horses pulled to the Decker farm last Friday would have no chance on the firing-line. It performed its last good service at the lower cotton mills blaze four or five years ago and was not dependable at that time. Its reason of the vicissitudes of old age, rust, and sand, its "innards" have been practically out of commission for over half a decade. Nothing, not excepting the indifference of public servants, lasts forever on this sublimity plane. Why expect more of the feeble and tottering Water Witch which was built in 1884?

The buildings on the Decker place might not have been saved, in any event, but much more could have been accomplished on the Rescogge premises. Thirty-five loads of hose, 1,750 feet in all, were required to carry the water from the hydrant to the scene of action. Eventually the engine was working with two leads from the water-works, supply, and throwing two streams. When it was doing its best, the maximum water pressure was only 100 pounds and double that amount was surely needed. So intense was the heat and so meagre the spray thrown from the weak streams that the firemen had to keep at a distance. Then, too, the engine's energy progressively declined until presently it would hardly work at all.

At the upper dam there is a fifteen-inch inlet to the Main street sewer, placed there in readiness for use whenever it is necessary to flush the pipes. Some day there is going to be a fire in the business section of the city which will demand not only all the water which can be drawn from convenient hydrants, but also whatever assistance the river is able to furnish. With a first class fire engine it would be a simple matter to open the gate at the dam, plug the south side of a main-hole with a board, and press the Main street sewer into service, or draw the supply direct from the stream, itself. With a modern apparatus that would mean at least four additional streams.

In his quarterly reports for three years past, with the regularity of clockwork, Chief Kohn has called the attention of the common council to these facts and pleaded with the members to do something in the way of replacing the worthless steamer. With the same regularity the aldermen have pigeon-holed his reports without comment—at least in open session. The suggestion, herein conveyed, to wake up and do something will probably be regarded as an impertinence by the criteria of august City Fathers who have, at times, been so busily engaged in tinkering with state laws and squabbling over their prerogatives as to allow the public's wishes and its needs to go by the board, but they will do well to heed it, just the same.

CHAUTAUQUA POST-MORTEM

Pre-deceased mental pabulum, served up by bygone bureau lecturers who are unknown quantities outside of their particular field of entertainment, is all well enough until the novelty of a tented amphitheatre wears off.

After that the Chautauqua patrons begin to clamor for speakers whose say-so amounts to something as well as those who really have something to say. There are plenty of noted authors, artists, journalists, explorers, actors, ministers, engineers, and politicians whom Janesville would have liked to hear from, but they weren't booked by the bygone bureau and probably could not have gotten in by any other gate. There are vocalists and entertainers, too, right in our own city and immediate vicinity, who would have attracted large audiences, but no serious effort was made to adjust the program to the particular needs and tastes of a very particular town. Notwithstanding which fact, it appears to have been a good program—the portion of it that was given, at any rate. But the potential audience had been Billy Sundayed with a generous supply of mediocre entertainment in previous seasons and with nobody to prod General Amity or fire the enthusiasm with strong appeals to civic loyalty, the enterprise just naturally drooped and died.

Local management's the thing, and it must be local management in fact as well as name. If such an undertaking is to succeed year after year, Marquette's assembly is one of the few in the middle west which will not pocket a deficit this season. "The people of Marquette 'own the show' and while they deal with bygone bureau, they also call whom they like to the stage. Vocalists of local reputation appear with the professionals and a local teacher has charge of the kindergarten feature. There is an Old Soldiers' Day and a three-cornered Political Day and the annual amateur theatrical performance which closed the season was attended by 4,000 people. With the same or a similar scheme of management, the big Monona Lake Chautauqua at Madison is again a failure and ineffectual stockholders insist upon selling the land and getting out from under the enterprise while they can still do so without financial loss. Rockefeller's Assembly has gone to the wall and in this section only the Delavan Lake camp appears to be following the even tenor of its way.

One by one the old testament miracles are again dissected and dismissed as fables by Herbert L. Willett and associate professors of the University of Chicago divinity school. Semi-annually this same coterie are interviewed with regard to the same old legends of the Red Sea and the erection and their higher criticism is made to serve as startling news in the Chicago dailies. Invariably, also, they disappoint the reader by failing to explain the exact terms and advantages of the new, reconstructed, scientific Christian religion for which they contend.

Charlotte Walker, at present leading woman in "The Wolf" and seen here Thanksgiving Day, 1906, in "On Parade," has secured a divorce from her husband, Dr. John H. Haden of Galveston, Texas, on the ground of "psychic cruelty." Sounds interesting, but it appears that the term is only another phrasing for everyday incompatibility—which excuse doesn't happen to suffice in the divorce mills of the Lone Star State.

The "runner-up" in the world's spelling match at Panama, Ill., fell down on the word "concentration." Who's ever had occasion to use that word since the days of the Hoos Hoos? Some of the other "staggerers" which put seventy contestants out of business were: antiquism, caustichous, rhinoceros, hnuenda, aberration, erysipelous, surrogate, chamole, plebian, and rizezo. Five went down on plebian.

Janesville golfers came home from Kenosha without any silver trophies, but with a new glint of determination in their eyes. It's about time that the alumnus of Wisconsin golf produced a state champion, regardless of the fact that it has never had the services of a professional coach, and all of its players have to earn honest livelihoods by the sweat of their brows.

Saturday night there was a $175,000 blaze in the Sawyer-Goodman Co's lumber yards at Marinette and fire destroyed a business block in Rockford, entailing a loss of $150,000. The dry spell may be alright for the corn, but the insurance companies would like a little more rain.

Noticed those beautiful clusters of phlox in the court-house park? The shrubbery has been so well thinned that something rather attractive is always in bloom.

Sam Brown has left the police force. Maybe the council will relent and pay him tonight. And then, again, maybe it won't.

Anyway, there was a little slice of work for the local cement block men in the sewer contract melon.

PRESS COMMENT.

None Sufficiently Fuzzy.
Chicago News: It seems odd that with so many platforms not one of them is wild and woolly enough for Coxey.

Oh, Rude Ejaculation!
San Diego Leader: A foreign writer says "Your American women have the most luxuriant hair of any women on the globe." Oh, rate!

Chicago News: Doubtless the miracles had been nervous for some time, but a University of Chicago professor should rule them out.

Too Much—Even for Oakkosh.
Monmouth Herald: An Oakkosh merchant has a directorate gown on exhibition in his show window but at last reports there had been no takers.

Two Tribes of a Kind

El Paso Herald: We can't see so very much difference in principle between the black hand and the "night riders." Both are vermin and should be exterminated.

Castro and the Rascals

New York World: Castro may be a rascal, but it looks as though the chief reason for sympathizing with some of the Americans who demand satisfaction is that they are "our rascals."

Mr. Bryan's Trade

Ashtabula Press: Every man to his trade. Mr. Bryan's trade is that of a talker. He is getting rich at his trade, and shouldn't aspire to stentorcraft, of which he has only theoretical knowledge.

Four Republicans—That's All

Racine Journal: Sensible men must tread upon the apparent design of again plunging the state in a factional fight. There are four senatorial candidates and consequently four republican candidates. That is all.

Strauss is a Great Composer

Stoughton Hub: The presentation of the cross of the Legion of Honor to the composer of "Salome," the opera which shocked New York, will emphasize an impression that the legion is getting to be a somewhat mixed company.

Real Menace to the Commoner

La Crosse Tribune: Mr. Bryan is not unjustified in his concern over the nomination of the Independence party ticket. Hearst's papers will poll in the neighborhood of a million votes for that ticket, and 50 per cent of them will be democratic votes.

Timely Advice in St. Louis

Chicago Record-Herald: "A Word for the Celluloid Collar" is the title of an editorial in the St. Louis Globe Democrat. We have not taken the trouble to read it, but we suppose it is a treatise on the best methods to be adopted by the men of St. Louis for the purpose of keeping their celluloid collars from blowing up in hot weather.

Well, the People Own It

Madison Journal: That public sentiment makes the laws was illustrated yesterday. There was perhaps no suspension by the state of the statute prohibiting people walking on the grass in the capital park, but the citizens crowded upon it with the unrepentant calmness.

Campaign Skulduggery

La Crosse Tribune: In the absence of convincing proof to the contrary, Judge Taft's denial that he said $1 to $1.25 a day is enough for any workman was unnecessary. Fair people will give the candidate credit for humanity and common sense making the expression of such sentiments by him impossible.

The Vanishing Patriots

Waukesha Freeman: There is a suspicion gaining ground that the decrease in the amount of campaign funds available will cause a tremendous falling off in the number of pre-election patriots. No one has yet presumed to predict that any difference will be noted in the outcome of the election.

Dick's Little Trick

Green Bay Gazette: W. H. Dick of New London, who is manager of Hamilton's senatorial campaign, is a brief interview calls the attention of the people to the fact that is traveling with Senator La Follette from Milwaukee to Waupun to attend the Chautauqua, leaving the inference to be drawn that the latter is on a campaigning tour in the interest of Mr. Hamilton. The support of Senator La Follette is eagerly desired by the candidates and, not getting it, they are watching every opportunity to lead the people astray on the subject. In the meantime the senator has to date had absolutely nothing to say on the subject.

A Good Newspaper Falls

Sheboygan Journal: The Fond du Lac Bulletin, started over a year ago as a daily newspaper, was one of the other two dailies of that town weren't printing the news as they thought it should be printed, has sold out to one of its competitors to avoid going into a receiver's hands, after it had sunk about $15,000 in cold cash. The sale amounted practically to a gift as the property never earned a penny.

The fizzle of the Daily Bulletin is an example of the practical impossibility of establishing a new daily newspaper on a paying basis except through many years of failure and loss. In the entire history of American newspapers there is scarcely a single instance of the successful establishment of a new daily paper anywhere that has not broken the men who put up the cash during the first ten years of its existence. The name of a daily paper is its chief asset, and that becomes valuable only after the paper has had ten or fifteen years' existence.

Probably the worst obstacle that a new daily paper goes against is the absolute refusal of the large advertising agencies to have anything to do with it until it is at least two years old. This is practically an iron clad rule among the advertising agents who place advertising contracts.

Irish First in America

Evening Wisconsin: The Watertown Leader contains the following readable paragraph: "Who discovered America? Christopher Columbus? No, the Irish discovered America. King Alfonso will declare war on Ireland when he learns that the famed Spanish saint had lost the riches of his glory and historians will turn over in their graves when they hear of their mistake. Where did the American Indian originate? The mystery is at last solved. He came from Ireland. Professor J. C. Monaghan of Notre Dame university announced the Irish Fellowship club yesterday with these revelations. He said that 'Pat' discovered Ireland, Greenland and America and proved that the Irish were here first by the Indian tribe names. The Onandagas took their name from the Irish O'Donnagans; the Tennessees from the Hennessys; the Michigans from the Mick Hennessys; the Oregonians from the O'Reganys; the Omahas from the O'Mahors; the Osageans from the O'Seaghs. The early Irish were here first by the Indian tribe names."

one day in Wisconsin," said the professor, "when they misused O'Connor." "Where is O'Connor?" asked one. "Oh, let O'Connor walk," said another, and thereupon the Wisconsin Indians were named O'Connorwalkers."

In this hot weather, when the telegraph wires are burdened with reports of crimes, and when intellectual interest languishes except under the stimulus of themes which inspire the imagination, it is a happy thought to revive the well known tradition of the Irish as the original discoverers of America. But even in hot weather, regard should be had for "the truth of history." Both the Leader and Prof. Monaghan have fallen into inadvertencies. Columbus was not a Shanahan, but an Italian—an Italian from Genoa, by-the-way, not "an Italian from Genoa." And the concluding anecdote in Prof. Monaghan's entertaining string does not accurately report the pregnant remark concerning O'Connor, which was as follows: "Sure O'Connor may walk!" The derivation of O'Connorwalkers from the phrase as substantiated in the report of Prof. Monaghan's lecture would be difficult to trace.

Heart to Heart Talks.

GOOD FOR YOUR "BLUES."

When you begin to think you have a hard time in life—

Just then is a good time to compare your condition with that of some who have a harder time than you, more sorrows than you, less prosperity than you.

Should you happen to be in the sort of mood described read a touching passage in the life history of a poor Milwaukee woman—read it anyway—this from "the short and simple annals of the poor."

Mrs. Mary Wiedig, widow, lost her only child, a little girl. She had no money to give the child a decent sepulcher. She went to the poor commissioner. And this is the sequel:

Mrs. Wiedig staggered up the path in the cemetery which led to the plot of ground where her husband was buried, bearing the little coffin which held the body of her little one. She took a spade who had put there the day before and began to dig. "Poor woman! She was digging the grave of her only child—the last bit that held her to earth."

And as she worked she sobbed and cried. She called out to the dead man under the ground to help her bear her sorrow till she could come to him.

One who passed through the cemetery heard the crying and went to the spot where the frail woman bent to her awful task.

She explained why she was digging the grave herself. She had no money to pay the sexton. "They would have buried her for me for nothing if I had let them put her grave over there in the potter's field. But who was such a little child, so little, and sometimes when I was obliged to leave her alone she was afraid of the dark. I wanted her to lie by her father's side so she would not be afraid. I told the poor commissioner how I felt, and he gave me this coffin. The woman who lives next door from me is coming out next Sunday to plant some vines."

And the agonized mother talked on, half wild with her grief and scarce knowing what she said, ending tenderly the name now of husband, now of child.

The man had a heart. He hurried to the sexton and gave him money to dig the child's grave and money to round the little mound and plant some humble flowers. And the woman cried, but this time the tears were sweet instead of bitter.

This story is not from the pages of Balzac.

Neither is it a fancy sketch. It is printed in a reliable newspaper, which gives full particulars concerning the woman's home and history.

Compare your disappointment and troubles and sorrows and heartaches with those of this miserable one.

You have not passed through harder.

LOOK OUT FOR THE REDS.

Cincinnati Team Putting Up Championship Article of Ball.

The baseball peoples of Cincinnati is in a fever of suspense. Are the Reds a team of second divisioners rushing along at a pennant winning pace or are they real ball players who have started their normal pace with a chance of keeping it up until the last game is decided? These are the questions the fans are asking. The bugs are enthusiastic, but are not permitting enthusiasm to rob them of their reason. They remember how year after year the Reds have galloped off with the leaders in the early part of the season, to drop like a defeated balloon when the pace began to tell.

Peculiarly enough, the man whom no one thought good enough to manage the team is the one who is keeping the team up in the race.

Cazul has done for the Reds what no other manager ever did. He has converted them into a glibly aggressive, He set an example by playing a marvelous game in the field and hitting like a demon.

REALLY AN APT COMPARISON.

Good Illustration of the True Position of China.

During a debate in the senate on foreign affairs one day one of the senators was discussing China's somewhat precarious position in the Russo-Japanese war.

"Gentlemen," observed the senator, humorously, "it has always seemed to me that China is hopelessly small and helpless as compared with Russia or Japan. Anything she may have to say to the combatants is suggestive of the remark that the gamecock made to the horses."

"This gamecock, as you well know, found himself one day in a stable full of horses—huge, restless steeds. They were all kicking and stamping about. The cock had to dodge from right to left and from left to right to avoid being trampled to pieces. As he shot this way and that between the heavy hoofs, he kept singing out:

"Take care, gentlemen; don't let us tread on one another!"—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

With Allowance.

There is an editor in a little New York town who has a well developed streak of gentle humor and a fondness for sparkling. Not long ago his man or all work left him, and the editor advertised for some one to fill his place. Among the applicants for the position was a man who seemed to know his business thoroughly, but who failed to produce references as to character when requested. Moreover, his eyes were somewhat shifty.

"You say you have no references?" the editor asked.

"No, sir, I have not," the man replied in a tone of humble pride; "but I think, sir, that you will find honesty printed on my face."

The editor smiled a little. "Well—perhaps," he admitted; "that is, allowing for typographical errors!"—Sunday Magazine.

Bad Air "Breath of Death."

Poor air from improper ventilation is the breath of death in any great city. While poor food is causing one death improper ventilation is reaping a harvest of 1,000 lives. Nor is this ratio confined to the slums.

In these words W. A. Evans of Chicago, commissioner of health, expressed his belief that the atmosphere of many houses is charged with a more deadly poison than impure food.

"In strict figures consumption and pneumonia have the greatest death rates in our city. In almost every case of these diseases the primary cause is the breathing of foul air," he said.

Worth the Money.

A prominent Wall street firm admitted to partnership the other day the manager of one of its foreign branches. An old chum called him as follows: "Howdy-partl." A few hours later the answer came back: "Finland-andy-destinohok." The whole performance cost ten dollars, but the long-distance handshake was regarded as worth the price.

This Time It Was Different.

"To tell the truth, Dr. Richards," said the wife of one of our most prosperous merchants, "I have neglected my teeth for years, since Dr. Richards of this city filled some teeth for me. He hurt me so dreadfully that I laughed and cried in almost hysterical when at last he let me out of that chair."

"Well," said Dr. Richards, "how was it this time?"

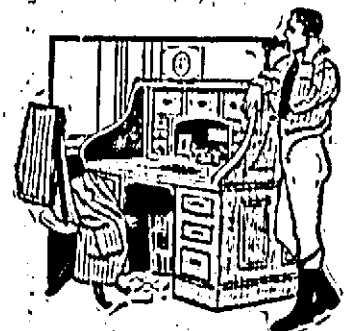

"You never hurt me one bit," said she and the Dr. had just finished filling a lot of her teeth with gold.

It is very pleasant to Dr. Richards to receive those kind words from bright, intelligent people who know when they receive good services and appreciate them.

The multitude of hearty endorsements given him in this city by people who had tried him and found his work really painless, makes him stand out clearly among his fellows as the man to go to for real painless dentistry in Janesville.

His prices are also reasonable, which is not a bad feature for the one who pays the bill.

JERRYLEAHEY TO WED A DEADWOOD BELLE

Casper, Wyoming, Paper Publishes Interesting Announcement Concerning Former Janesville Resident.

A copy of the Casper (Wyoming) Press of Friday, July 31, which has come to Thomas P. Skogel contains the following announcement of the approaching wedding of a former Janesville resident which will be of interest to all of his local friends.

"Jerry Lealey and J. M. Goggin departed for the Black Hills Sunday. Mr. Lealey will be united in marriage to one of the cutthroat young ladies of Deadwood, and his friend will officiate as best man. Mr. Goggin goes to the Rosebud agency for a short visit with his old tribe. It may not be known to some of our residents that Jim, when a boy, was adopted into Red Cloud's band, who, owing to his prowess, gave him the title which interpreted into English means 'Wobbling Bear'."

Mr. Lealey has been living in the west for about four years. He was last here to visit his mother and sisters in this city about a year ago.

LITTLE IDA BACCASH RETURNS FROM SYRIA

Eight-year-old Janesville Girl Made 10,000-Mile Trip from Damascus Alone.

George Incecash, junior partner in the firm of Donnell & Incecash which conducted a confectionery store in the Hayes block about five years ago, and his little eight-year-old daughter, who had traveled 10,000 miles alone to join him at Benton Harbor, Mich., figured in an interesting reunion in the city of the Flying Rollers yesterday.

Mr. Incecash, it will be remembered, was so ill about the time the family left Janesville that her husband deemed it advisable to send her back to her native land. The little girl, then three years old, went with her. The mother died, and the child was left with her grandparents. The lone father journeyed for his child, now eight years old, and after two years of waiting arranged for the trip which ended yesterday. "As the little girl stepped from the gang-plank of the 'City of Chicago' to the wharf," says a morning dispatch, "a man broke from the crowd and swept the child into his arms, kissing her rapturously. The girl was Ida Incecash, who, when she stepped off the steamer, looked a 10,000-mile journey across foreign seas and soil. She had come all the way from the ancient city of Damascus, Syria, to join her father in Benton Harbor. Little Miss Incecash made the long trip from the town of biblical fame unattended. She can speak but half a dozen words of English."

CARLOAD OF HOGS SHIPPED OUT TODAY

R. Thurman, Representative of the Evansville Commission Co., Finds Season a Trifle Dull.

Today another shipment of hogs will be made by Richard Thurman for the Evansville Live Stock Commission company. Mr. Thurman has been through the country lately trying to secure animals for shipment and has obtained enough for a carload. This is very hard to do at this time of the year, as many of the farmers are so busy with their harvesting that they will not bring the cattle to the stock yards.

Best Way to Tie Shoe-Laces.

A way to keep shoe-laces tied is to make a bow in the ordinary way, then insert a buttonhook underneath the center of the bow and draw one loop and one end through (underneath), thus turning the bow practically upside down. Or draw one loop through the other and pull the "answering" end, so that the loops are knotted.

Heat in Match's Flame.

The flame of an ordinary match has a much higher temperature than is generally known, and will melt cast iron or steel filings. Try it by striking a match and sprinkle the filings through the flame. Sputtering sparks like gunpowder will be the result of the molting metal.—Popular Mechanics.

Signs.

Roasting ears are almost without juice this season, snap beans are dry, beans are scorched and unusually full of wild clover, which is killing the grass. VOTE FOR WISCONSIN'S GRAND OLD MAN

For United States Senator
At The Primary Election
Tuesday September 1st 1908

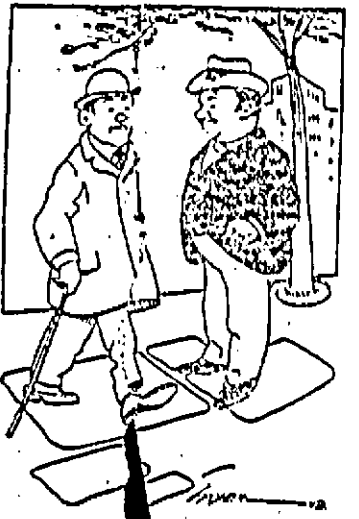

No man in Wisconsin began earlier to support the people's cause, or has been truer to La Follette and the reforms he has championed, than United States Senator Isaac Stephenson. His help was indispensable. It was freely given.

Vote on Sept. 1st for "Uncle Ike"

BIT'S OF HUMOR

First how would you like to have your house painted? Second how would you like to have your mortgaged?

Idea—No, I respond only to the appeals of the penitentiary—What a desecrating poor! Cigarette—That's a new one for me.

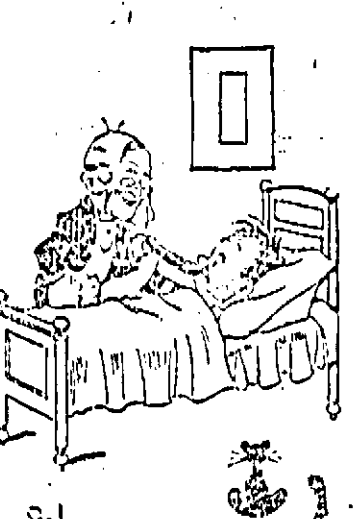

Husbands—Well, I've had my life insured for ten thousand dollars. Wife—How very amiable of you! Now I shall have to keep you to be so careful every place you go to.

Mr. Thompson—Why don't you work? Thompson—Mr. Thompson, I am very busy. I am of course not working.

Wait till he sees this bill. My husband has promised to allow me to choose what I want for my birthday. Wife—Then there'll be no surprise this year. Husband—No, I'll be sure you'll get what you want.

CHAPTER XVI.

He chuckled softly as he saw the two figures approach each other. For all that he knew they might be contemplating a fond and loving embrace, and he was not unduly surprised when one of the figures separated itself, ran from the other and plunging to the earth. As he started up in surprise the other figure leaped forward and then straightened itself quickly. Droom did not hesitate. He dashed across the street, conscious that something dreadful had happened. His instant thought was that Bansemmer had lost his temper and had struck the woman down.

The flight of the man was proof positive. He called him to stop, certain that it was Bansemmer. The runner turned his face toward him for a moment. The light from the street may have deceived Elias Droom's eyes, but the face of the assailant was not that of James Bansemmer. Droom stopped short and looked after the man, paralyzed with amazement. Then he gave a snorting laugh at his own stupidity. Of course it was Bansemmer. Who else could it be?

Arriving at the spot where he had just seen the couple, he was amazed to find no one there. He realized, with horror, that the woman must have been struck down, had fallen or had been thrown into the lake.

The gaunt old clerk groaned bitterly as he threw himself upon the wall and peered over into the water. He listened for the cries and struggles of the woman. Gradually his eyes solved the situation. He saw the row of splashes beyond the break in the sea wall and the swishing pool inside. Every incoming wave sent a flood of water between the sturdy posts and into the cut of the wall.

Without a moment's hesitation he dropped into this scolding prison, confident that the woman's body could be found there. A single glance had shown him that he could crawl upward through the break to safety, and he knew that the water below was not dangerously deep.

A minute later he was scrambling out of this angry, icy water up through the debris, bearing in his long arms the inert form of Frances Cable. He had found her half submerged in the pool, every sweep of the waves through the stovetop posts covering her completely.

He dropped the body on the ground after reaching the level and took a quick, shuddering glance about. Two men had stopped on the opposite side of the Drive. He hesitated a second and then shouted to them. They stood stock still in alarm. Before they could respond to his second shout Elias Droom was tearing the woman's watch from her belt and the rings from her fingers. His strong, nervous hands found the necklace that she wore, and it broke beneath their sudden jerk. Cautiously he tossed the necklace upon the ground and trampled it with his heel. The watch and rings went flying across the wall and far out into the lake.

"This woman has been strangled!" he shouted. He did not know how much of the tragedy these men had witnessed. Boldness was his cue for the moment; stealth could follow later. "She's been in the water. I'm afraid it's murder. The man who did it went that way. Tell for the police!"

If the assailant was James Bansemmer, Droom was doing his duty by him; if it was another, he was doing his duty by society.

Rub-a-dub-dub! RUB-a-DUB-dub!

That is what wears out your clothes—the eternal rubbing up and down the washboard.

Why don't you stop it? It isn't necessary.

The right way to wash clothes—the easy way—the quick way—the safe way—the Modern way is with P. & G. Naphtha Soap and cold (or lukewarm) water.

If you adopt this way, you will have precious little use for a washboard.

The naphtha in P. & G. Naphtha Soap loosens the dirt. The soap cleans.

Boiling the clothes, too, is unnecessary. Use P. & G. Naphtha Soap and get rid of these twin evils of wash day. There is no need for either.

P. & G. Naphtha Soap is for sale in almost every grocery in this city.

The price is 5 cents a cake.

DROOM'S intentions were clear. It was not a tender heart nor was it charity which prompted him to do the deed of valor just described. He had started out to do his duty by James Bansemmer because he was in his life, and he felt it still his duty to cover the tracks of his master as best he could. He knew that he was jeopardizing his own safety. The obstinate cunning of his nature insisted that the man he had watched was Bansemmer, although his brief glimpse of the fugitive's face discouraged that belief.

The gaunt clerk kept his chin well covered with his great muffer; the broad collar of his under was turned up about his face. The rapid plan that dashed into his mind comprehended but two things, the effort to restore life to Frances Cable and the hope of escaping without being recognized. He felt that she had not been in the water long enough to drown. Every hope depended upon the force of the blow that he imagined had been delivered.

Chilled to the bone, his teeth chattering like castanets, the old man was stooping over the luminous form on the ground when the two men came up. In answer to their startled questions he merely said that he had seen the struggle from across the street, but had been too late to prevent the tragedy.

"We must get her into one of these houses quick," he granted. "Take hold of her, you. And you over there."

Chilled to the bone, his teeth chattering, hurry and ring a doorbell. Get inside and phone for a doctor—a doctor first and then the police. We may be able to save her life."

The first of the rich men's houses denied them admission. The man of the house said he would not "stand for the notoriety." Droom, supporting the head of the wet, icy figure, made a remark which the man was never to forget. At the second house they were admitted.

In an instant all was confusion. A card game was broken up, and guests of the house assisted their host and hostess in doing all manner of unnecessary things. Droom gave the commands which sooner or later resolved themselves into excited, wrathful demands upon the telephone operator, calls for the police, calls for stimulants, muffs, hot water bottles—everything.

"She's been robbed," said one of the men. "Her rings have been torn off. Look at the blood!"

"She's well dressed, too," said another. "But her face looks familiar."

To the amazement of every one, the lips of the woman parted and a gasping, choking sound issued from between them, a slight shudder swept over her frame.

"She's alive!" exclaimed Droom. "Get these wet clothes off of her—quick!"

The men stood grouped in the hallway while the woman tore the wet garments from the reviving victim and prepared a warm bed for her. Elias Droom was edging toward the door, bent on escape, when the awed, chattering voice of the young fellow who had nodded in carrying her to the house arrested him. A great sense of relief crept over him as he listened to the young man's story; his eyes blinked with satisfaction. He was forgetting his own remark of a minute ago that he was freezing and must get into some dry clothes at once. The young man was saying:

"It happened right out there by the sea wall—where the big break is. Harry and I were coming up the Drive, and I called attention to a man running south along the wall. Just then this gentleman ran over from this side of the street, and a minute or two later we saw him jump into the break over there. Suddenly I thought, but he wasn't a minute coming up. There was the woman! He'd pulled her out! By thunder, it was the bravest thing I ever saw! He—"

And then it was that everybody began to shower praise upon the man who only had done his duty by the one who threatened to do ugly, not gallant, deeds.

"Did you which which way the other ran?" demanded Droom eagerly. "Lost him in the dark. He ran like fury. You must have scared him off," said the second young man. "I wish we could have seen his face. Did you see it?"

"Not distinctly," answered Droom. "He struck me as being a slim young fellow, that's all." Of one thing he was assured—the evidence of these two men would prove that he had acted as a valiant protector and not as a thief, a fear which had not left his mind until now. They had seen the fleeing assailant, but there was only one person who could identify him. That person was Frances Cable, the victim. If it was not James Bansemmer, then who could it have been?

The door opened, and an agitated young woman came out.

"It is Mrs. Cable!" she cried in trembling tones.

The physician arrived at that moment, and a few minutes later came an officer who had been hailed from the doorway. While the policeman was listening to the voluble young eyewitness Droom stood still, puzzling himself vainly in the effort to solve an inside mystery. He had been ready a few minutes before to curse himself for pulling the woman out of the water, but now as the belief grew stronger within him that her assailant was not James Bansemmer his viewpoint changed. If such was the case there would be no need to fear Mrs. Cable's story if she revived sufficiently to tell it. On the other hand, if it was Bansemmer, he had rescued her to an ill purpose. He was conscious finally that some one was speaking to him.

"What do you know of this?" demanded the policeman. Droom repeated his brief story. "What is your name and where do you live?"

"My name is Elias Droom, and I live over in Wells street."

"Could you identify the man?"

"I don't think so."

"What were you doing over in this part of town?"

"Walking up to see the skaters on the park lagoon. But what's that got to do with it? You'd better be out looking for the thief instead of wasting time on me here," snarled Droom. The officer gazed, and there is no telling what might have happened if the captain and a swarm of linecents had not appeared on the scene at that moment. Two minutes later they were off, scouring the lake front in search of the mysterious holdup man. Two plain clothes men remained to question the witnesses and to inspect the neighborhood in which the crime was committed.

Word came from the inner room that Mrs. Cable was regaining consciousness.

"Does—can she throw any light on the affair?" asked Elias Droom. "She has uttered no word except her husband's name. I think she is still calling upon him for help, poor thing," said the young woman who bore the news.

"Cable ought to be notified," said one of the men.

"Don't do it over the phone," said Droom quickly. "I'm going past his house, I'll stop in and tell him. Let me out, officer. I must get out of these wet garments. I'm an old man, you know."
